

Additional Pay/Stipends

1. Are districts giving special education teachers additional pay/stipends for extra meetings? (2009 Winter)

Contract language does exist in some districts that give additional pay/stipends for extra meetings and for additional credentials. One district states in their local contract that all teachers general education and special education will be reimbursed at $40 per hour for any meetings required beyond the duty day. Another district pays all teachers an additional stipend for any additional credential needed to do their job. This includes librarians, teachers who have CLAD/BCLAD and special education credentials.

To find out more contact your local bargaining unit. If your local person does not have the information ask for the contact at the state level who can help you.
